you have always got my back I wish I had noticed when I was there how beautiful it was all you did for me I was never humble enough to see you let me free you let me walk on my own two feet you let me run you let me try to fly and seek somewhere I can find relief for me something that could satisfy my dire needs never leave me

you let me free but you never let me go you watch my steps you're in control finally found the one that makes me whole you have allowed me to deny you but you've never denied me my choice is you, first and only and now I find I am your choice
